

The natural texture of Impervia Flooring.

Nature has a wonderful way of soothing and creating well being when we appreciate it and live with it in the right way. Live with Impervia Flooring and live with nature.

We developed Imperva to replicate real wood both in terms of looks but also "Feel". In Latin it is the verb SENTINO which is described as to perceive, think, experience, judge and be aware. There are also the familiar words such as "touch" and handle.

You cannot see the textured surface but our specialist finish creates a surface that matches the grain to give a truly real wood sensation when you touch the surface. The image shown is our bare timber herringbone and when fitted would look exactly like a real parquet herringbone floor but at half the price. It is also anti bacterial and the best floor for your home to help beat Covid as it can easily be cleaned with detergent and anti-virus solutions.

Take a closer look and you can see some of the texture. Get a sample to feel for yourself.
